Conferences Between U. S., Japs Continue

Outcome Awaited as Hull Receives Dutch, Australian Ministers

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Conferences with Dutch and Australian ministers whose countries have an interest in the Far Eastern developments, occupied the state department's attention Wednesday amid a lull in the Japanese-American discussions.

Dr. A. Luodon, Dutch minister, conferred with Secretary Hull and Under-Secretary Wells and was reported to have received from them information on the character of the talks held previously with Admiral Nomura and Kurusu.

Richard C. Casey, Australian minister, also had an appointment with State Department officials.

Dr. Hugh Shih, Chinese ambassador said Sir Ronald Campbell, British charge d'affaires conferred with Secretary Hull Tuesday immediately after the session with the Japanese envoy.

Diet Member Banned
TOKYO —(AP)— A Diet member speech was banned for publication but not for delivery for this session, on Wednesday, to a member's resignation and created a sensation in the current session of Japan's parliament.

No hint of the contents of the speech was permitted to reach the public but the member, named Miyazawa was turned over to the disciplinary committee of the house of representatives and his resignation shortly thereafter was accepted by a unanimous vote of the house.

However, 19 other members resigned from the throne rule assistance group of the house, apparently in sympathy with him.

All published speeches in the current session have strongly approved the government's stand against the U. S. and Britain.

The Washington mission Kurusu continued to overshadow other developments in the Japanese eye with the press giving details of Tuesday's meeting of nearly three hours between Hull and Kurusu.

Trouble Seen
LONDON —(AP)— Foreign Secretary said in the house of commons Wednesday that any attack by Japan on the Burma road would create a grave situation. The Burma road, twisting through the mountains from British Burma to Chungking, is one of the principal lines of supply for General Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese forces.

Frequent reports of the massing of troops in North French Indo-China have stirred wide conjecture that Japan may be planning to invade the province in an effort to cut the road.

Authorized sources said earlier that Japanese naval authorities also suggest more pressure on Thailand.

Germans Renew Drives North, South Moscow

However, Russians Claim All Nazi Thrusts Are Crushed

By The Associated Press
Adolf Hitler's high command pictured the German armies as lunging forward once more on the eastern front Wednesday executing "new and successful" attacks while the Russians declared they had crushed Nazi attempts to pierce the Soviet lines north and south of the 200 mile Moscow defense area.

Nazi military spokesmen said German bombers raked both Moscow and Leningrad during the night and left spreading fires in the capital.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters reported that 10,000 Russian prisoners were captured and 171 tanks destroyed during the past 3 days but gave no details of the new push.

Soviet front line dispatches said two German infantry regiments, supported by tanks and armored cars, had been driven off with bloody losses in repeated attempts to storm across the upper Volga river in the Kalinin sector, 35 miles northwest of Moscow and the Red command gave this general summary:

"Our troops are beating off enemy attacks and destroyed equipment and annihilated the manpower of the Germans."

On the southern front the Russians said Marshall Timoshenko's forces had recaptured a number of villages and advanced from 4 to 12 miles—presumably in the bloody battle sector of Rostov-on-Don.

Soviet accounts declared that Field Marshal von Kleist's southern armies were suffering many casualties in attempts to make rapid gains in the Donets river basin.

In the Crimea the German high command said Nazi bombers violently attack the Black seaport of Sevastopol, blasting docks, munitions dumps and ships in the harbor but still there was no indication of a direct land assault against the stronghold.

The British radio said Russian troops in the Kerch sector had been evacuated along with arms and equipment to the Caucasus.

Officially Russia has not recognized German claims to the capture of Kerch but the Moscow radio acknowledged that the Axis invaders, estimated at 90,000 troops had cracked Kerch's defenses at a cost of colossal losses.

Meanwhile authorized London quarters briefly disclosed that Britain was taking military and naval action against Finland, Rumania and Hungary.

These quarters refused to elaborate and informed sources interpreted the statement as referring in main to Britain's blockade of the countries.

Proving Ground Job In Construction News

The current issue of The Construction News, published at Little Rock by Ray Metzger, carries four pages of information in word and picture concerning operations at the Southwest Proving Ground.

The article contains considerable material of a technical nature concerning the project construction. The magazine covers the construction in the following states: Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Five states are planning to eliminate the need for new automobile license plates next year or in the future.

Pictures Wanted of Local Boys in Navy

The Star wants pictures of Hempstead, Nevada and Lafayette county boys who are now serving in the United States Navy—to be published in connection with the forthcoming Navy Recruiting Campaign. Pictures should be brought to the newspaper office immediately, and all will be returned. Here are instructions:

1. Write on back of picture the boy's name, and name and address of parents. Advise when the boy enlisted, his class, and his present location.

2. Any clear picture will do, glossy photos being preferred. DO NOT SUBMIT COLORED OR TINTED PICTURES. Whether the boy is in uniform or not makes no difference.

Also, any letters written home by local sailors, telling of naval life, will be appreciated; and The Star will return these to their owners just as it will return the photographs.

Chamber Picks Committee on Mop. Underpass

To Renew Long-Time Fight for Underpass on Main-Line Railroad

Hope Chamber of Commerce Wednesday renewed its fight of several years' standing to obtain an underpass for city traffic beneath the main line to the Missouri Pacific railroad, which cuts the city in half.

President Roy Anderson, acting on instructions of the board of directors of the C. of C., named the following committee to again take up the underpass matter with the State Highway Commission and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads:

Guy E. Basye, past president of the chamber; Albert Graves, mayor of the City of Hope; and Syd E. McMath and Chas. Hall, city aldermen.

In previous negotiations with state and federal agencies it developed that the Missouri Pacific had agreed to co-operate on plans for a Hope underpass; but the project never has been taken up actively by the federal road agency, through which funds must come.

Citing the new factors which make an underpass more necessary now than ever before, Mr. Anderson said:

"The railroad closed up Laurel street some years ago.

"Walnut street has been the scene of several grade-crossing fatalities, despite the fact that first there was a watchman at the crossing, and later there were safety gates.

"At the Hazel street crossing, which is entirely unprotected, four persons have been killed in two years.

"The situation is more dangerous now because of increased industrial traffic between the north and south sides of town; because of the many negro children who must cross the railroad to get to Xavier Negro High School on the south side; and because of the increased threat to prompt fire and ambulance service for people on the north side, since these services must be supplied from the south side, and the railroad crossing are frequently blocked by trains."

Achievement Day Program

The Annual Achievement Program for County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs was held in the city hall auditorium recently with 17 Home Demonstration Clubs and an attendance of 125 women. New Officers were elected for the term of 1942-43: President, Mrs. Early McWilliams; Vice-president, Mrs. Robert Rider; Patron, Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Floyd Matthews; Ozark Reporter: Martha Brunson, Wassenaarburg.

The theme of the program for the day was National Defense. Mr. Ted Jones of Hope rendered special music. During the noon hour demonstration of hot rolls from whole wheat flour and enriched flour was given by Mrs. Estelle Parrot, food and nutrition specialist for light crust flour.

The afternoon program was begun by a citizenship ceremony led by Mrs. P. J. Holt of Melrose Club. Talbot Fields, Jr., chairman of the County Defense Board of Hempstead County, told the Home Demonstration Club women what their county is doing for National Defense and how they can help. Mr. Oliver L. Adams, County Agent, led a discussion on food and feed campaign quota for 1942. What farm women can do for National Defense was a discussion from the following specialists: Mrs. D. B. Hosholt, Rural Supervisor of Farm Security Administration; Mrs. Estelle Parrot, Mrs. Early McWilliams, Shover Springs; Mrs. Shirley Stewart, Ozark; Mrs. H. H. Huskey, Sweet Home; Mrs. Claude Fletcher, Home Demonstration Agent; George W. Ware of the Hope Branch Experiment Station. ### Homecoming for Bobcats

Queen Ceremonies to Proceed N.L.R.—Hope Game

The football game between Hope and North Little Rock here Friday night has been designated as homecoming for the Bobcats and elaborate ceremonies will proceed the contest.

The Bobcats have been working hard all week in preparation for the Tigers. Each afternoon the team plays a regular game against another composed of former Bobcats.

The Hope team has four wins this season and the chances for the fifth Friday night are slim as North Little Rock boasts one of the strongest teams in the state. The Tigers are tied with Blytheville for first place in the Arkansas high school conference.

They have only one defeat and that a one point setback at the hands of Blytheville, a team which ran over Hope 32-0. The Tigers were also tied by the Pine Bluff Zebras and hold winds over El Dorado, Fort Smith and Hot Springs.

On the other hand the Bobcats have won their last two games, upsetting Malvern last Friday night 33-6. The Hope team has improved steadily with each game and although not expected to win Friday night, a hard-fought game with a close score is probable.

It will be the last home game for the Bobcats who close the season against the Zebras at Pine Bluff on Thanksgiving Day.

City Council in Short Session

The city milk inspector was instructed to investigate methods of surrounding cities who have milk ordinances and to compare methods of assessing inspection fees on cows and also pasteurizing plants.

Action was deferred on purchasing a bookkeeping and posting machine for the water and light plant office.

Market Your Scrap Iron

USDA Board Urges Farmers to Do Part in Defense

An urgent appeal to farmers of Hempstead county to market their scrap iron as part of a national scrap iron collection campaign designed to aid the National Defense Program, was made this week by Earl King, chairman of the county USDA Defense Board.

The Office of Production Management, Mr. King said, has been putting on a drive to increase the flow of scrap metal from cities and the USDA defense boards have been requested by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard to put on a drive to get scrap metal from farms.

The financial returns from sale of scrap metal will not be great, Mr. King said, but the results will be important to farmers in the defense effort. By marketing their scrap iron and steel, farmers can increase the total supply and improve their situation.

Information received by the Defense Board emphasizes that America needs all the scrap iron and steel it is possible to get to help meet shortages of these metals in the production of defense materials. Scrap metal is essential in the making of steel. Also, steel is needed for the manufacture of farm machinery and farmers who dispose of their scrap iron now will be helping make it possible for more farm machinery to be produced in 1942.

Mr. King emphasized that the drive is for scrap metal only and the government does not want farmers to scrap useful farm machinery which should be repaired and continued in use as a part of the farm machinery repair campaign being conducted by state and county defense boards.

Gen. Weygand May Be Fired

Rumored in Vichy That African Head May Be Ousted

VICHY —(AP)—General Maxime Weygand who commanded France's last wartime army walked along a bank of the Allier at dusk Wednesday night, slowly and alone after a conference with Chief of State Petain, which may determine France's fate—and perhaps his own.

Even as he walked, with hands clasped behind his back, accompanied not even by his faithful aide Major Gasser, rumors spread through Vichy that he would step down as Petain's pro-consul in Africa.

The statement that the President would stay his hand for a few days' found collaboration in authoritative house reports that congress had received a quite go-ahead for "middle of the road" legislation to deal with strikes but with the understanding that action would be deferred until the mine situation was settled, within the next week or so.

Others indicated that the question probably would not come up in the house until the CIO convention was ended and the strike settled.

"Such delay," the sources said, "are considered advisable to avoid further complications in the existing situation."

However, John L. Lewis believed there was a possibility of quicker White House action. The UMW president instead of leaving for the Detroit convention remained in the capital to deal with any possible sudden development.

Russian-Jap Border Clash

One Soviet Cavalryman Killed, Two Captured

TOKYO —(AP)—One Russian soldier was killed and two captured in a clash of Manchukuo frontier guards with Soviet detachment which crossed the border Sunday about 24 miles west of Manchuli, Dornai said Wednesday.

The report from Hsinking said that last Sunday three Soviet cavalrymen crossed the border intending to survey Japanese forces in that sector. In the resulting engagement with Manchukuo forces two were captured and a third killed.

Dornai reported said the Russians had military aims in crossing the frontier and asserted it was no mistake.

Rev. Spore to Stay in Hope

Methodist Preacher to Spend Fourth Year Here

Bishop Charles C. Selcman, at the meeting of the Little Rock Annual Conference of the Methodist Church at Fordyce last Sunday returned the Reverend Mr. Kenneth L. Spore to the First Methodist Church here for his fourth year.

The Reverend Mr. Spore is the seventh pastor to serve this church for a four year term. The other six who have had this distinction were: C. O. Steed, J. R. Sanders, T. D. Scott, Alonzo Monk, W. C. Davidson, and Fred R. Harrison.

Only twice in the history of the church have two four year pastors served in succession: Alonzo Monk and W. C. Davidson (1918-1926) and Fred R. Harrison and Kenneth L. Spore (1934-1942). This is the first time that the Reverend Mr. Spore has been appointed to any church for a fourth year.

Says Move to Follow Closing of CIO Session

Informed Source Indicates Roosevelt Has 50,000 Troops Ready

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Despite the steady spread of sympathy strikes in commercial mines and some violence authorized sources said Wednesday that President Roosevelt probably would withhold executive action in the captive mine disputes until after the CIO concludes its national convention in Detroit next Friday.

At the same time it was learned that 50,000 troops are being held in readiness to take over the captive mines in event the present deadlock continues and the President decides on use of the army as necessary to fulfill indisputable obligation—the restoration of coal production.

Troops Instructed
Preparations for the use of troops, this source said, was complete down to the last detail which includes special instructions to the men on how to conduct themselves in the presence of mine workers.

The timetable calls for occupation of captive mine centers within a few hours after the order is issued.

Informed sources emphasized that there was no final decision yet to use the army.

President Roosevelt, one source said, is biding his time purposely and is giving CIO striking mine workers ample opportunity to reconsider the adamant position the union has taken to inform its demand for a union shop in the captive pits which are owned and operated by the steel companies.

Congress to Take Strike
The statement that the President would stay his hand for a few days' found collaboration in authoritative house reports that congress had received a quite go-ahead for "middle of the road" legislation to deal with strikes but with the understanding that action would be deferred until the mine situation was settled, within the next week or so.

Tigers Crippled for Tech Game

Star Back, Anderson, May Watch Game From Sidelines

ARKADELPHIA — The Ouachita College Tigers will go into the championship game with the Arkansas Tech Wonder Boys here Friday afternoon at somewhat below par it appeared today, due to bruises and injuries from recent games.

Hunk Anderson, of North Little Rock, brilliant back, sustained a severe injury of one of his legs in the game at Louisiana Normal last week—a game Ouachita lost, 7 to 6—and may have to watch most of the all-important Tech-Ouachita game from the sidelines.

Carl Allen, of Magnolia, himself a valuable man in the ball-carrying department, has been slowed down by a bruised leg.

Joe D. Gault, of Dardanelle, giant end who has been a vital part of the impregnable Tiger line all season, still has not recovered from time burns suffered in the Hallowe'en game with Tech at Russellville. Although he was able to play some last week, Gault is not expected to be at full strength for some time.

Charles Taylor, 200-pound guard from Newport, developed a "charley-horse" in the Louisiana game and has shown little improvement in this week's work-outs.

Fans who saw the Ouachita-Tech game at Russellville which the Tigers won, 7 to 0, are expecting this week's clash to be a renewal of that thrilling grid battle.

The outcome will probably hinge on the line play, since both teams are outstanding in this department. Coach W. I. Walton will count on the speed of his line, which has not been scored on this year, to match the prowess of Coach John Tucker's 200-pound Tech line.

Composing the line which Coach Walton regards as the best the Tigers have produced in many seasons are: Cecil Kamp, Warren, center; Bill Harris, Warren, guard; Buddy Harris, Bearden, center; John Yancey, Little Rock, guard; Charles Taylor, Newport, guard; R. A. Davenport, Bauxite, guard; Ralph Stockemer, El Dorado, tackle; Himsley Harp, Booneville, tackle; J. Ramsey, Bauxite, tackle; C. Jones, Cleburne, Tex., guard; Chesley Billings, Marion, tackle; Joe D. Gault, Dardanelle, end; Oscar Smith, El Dorado, end; and Sterling Williams, North Little Rock, end.

The Tigers have made a total of more than 100 first downs in seven games, with the offensiveness and cleverness of the line figuring in much of the yardage gained in many of the games.

But it takes more than a line to make a team, and Ouachita boasts a well-balanced backfield, in which Redger Parker, Russellville; Carl Allen, Magnolia; Hunk Anderson, North Little Rock; Ralph Turner, Newport; Jackie Morrison, McGehee; Louis Nichols, Warren; and Jack McHaney, Smackover, stand out.

A victory for Ouachita this week would give the Tigers a clear title to the state championship, while a victory for the Techmen would give them a tie for the title. Ouachita's final game of the year, with Henderson State, and Tech's closing game, with State Teachers, both of which fall on Thanksgiving Day, can have little or no bearing on the state title race.

Cotton Quotas Are Reviewed

AAA Chairman Says Plan Protects Farmers

Cotton marketing quotas are a phase of the Triple-A farm program used by cotton farmers to prevent further increases in the already large supply of cotton and to protect each producer's fair share of the domestic and foreign demand for American cotton. H. Earl King, chairman of the Hempstead County Triple-A committee, said in discussing the marketing quota referendum that will be held for cotton producers of the nation on Saturday, December 13.

This will be the fifth year that cotton farmers have voted on marketing quotas. They have been approved for the last four years. They will again vote under critical conditions due to wars in a large part of the world.

"National defense is a vital thought in almost every person's mind at the present time. The cotton grower is deeply concerned over the national defense effort, and he plays an important part in the success of the recently announced 'Food for Freedom' drive," Mr. King said.

The chairman pointed out that national defense requires a balanced production—the right amount of each commodity. Supplies of cotton exceed present needs. On the other hand, supplies of certain other commodities must be increased. Marketing quotas are a part of the plan under which cotton farmers may adjust their operations to meet the goal of "Food for Freedom."

"As cotton farmers devote a large part of their resources toward increasing supplies of the needed defense commodities, marketing quotas will be of assistance in protecting each farmer who is aiding in the defense effort, his proportionate share of the limited cotton market," Mr. King said.

County cotton growers will be given the opportunity to vote at polling places conveniently placed over the county on December 13.

A public address system has been secured and the entire program will be presented in a radio broadcast, according to Mrs. Harriet Richards and W. H. Allison, sponsors of the amateur programs. Any other course is decline and death. Instead of feeling a little dizzy at our present pace of production, we must become accustomed to think of it as normal, and be prepared to make emergency efforts far in advance of anything yet achieved.

A sort of giantism has seized on the world. Somehow we must learn to think of the physical world, its work and production, its social organisms, its governments and wars, on the largest scale, and yet at the same time we must learn to segregate apart from all these giant things the little germs of personal life, the mighty essence of our individual souls, and that they too may not be swallowed up in the giantism of society. The two must be combined neither can be ignored if life in the future is to be worth living.

THE STORY: It did not matter that pretty, red-haired Diana Tucker had let her anger flare, told lawyer Richard Thorpe to go to the devil, stormed from his office—except what must have been, famous Stephen Curt, writer and commentator conferring with Thorpe at the time, have thought of her outburst. Anyway, it was Diana's last day with the firm. Having resisted Thorpe's overtures and wounded his vanity, she had already been given notice, now wondered if she could find other work in the exciting city, or if she would have to return to her farm home.

CHAPTER II

DIANA walked quickly from the room, breathing rapidly. Her pulses were pounding, her head reeling madly. She had seen the consternation on Thorpe's face change to blazing rage, and was conscious of a wild, delighted feeling of retaliation justly meted out.

She had not seen Stephen Curt's twinkling eyes, nor heard his chuckle of delighted laughter, but when she had slammed the door, Curt said dryly:

"Looks like the little lady's one up on you, Richard, my boy!"

Thorpe was striding angrily about, trying to control his fury. There were reasons why he did not want to display his ruthlessness before Stephen. His wife, Evelyn, thought a great deal of Curt and it would not do at all to have his ill temper known outside the office. For many reasons he wanted Evelyn to continue to believe that he was all sweetness and light.

Already he was sorry for his outburst, but that confounded Tucker girl had always irritated him beyond belief. Who in hell did she think she was, talking to him like that? And Curt, with his keen insight, seemed to be enjoying the situation out of all proportion to its importance.

Thorpe knew that Curt had never really liked him.

"The girl's impossible. We've fired her. This is her last day," he muttered angrily.

"I should think so, if you're in the habit of yelling at the poor child like that," Curt grinned slyly. "Give the kid credit. She seemed to have heard of me, and when you mentioned my name, she was a little impressed. You messed up my moment of tribute."

Thorpe smiled unwillingly. "I'm sorry as the devil this happened, Steve. But the girl has been getting on my nerves for weeks."

She's probably refused your advances, Stephen was thinking. She's probably taken no trouble to conceal the fact that she thinks you're a heel. She wouldn't bow down at your shrine, thank God! So you're getting rid of her. Well—

—it'll be somebody else's gain. Anyone could tell that here was a rare girl. Stephen had known it somehow even when he glimpsed her in the outer office. It was her spirit, her fire. Curt liked women whose temper could be persuaded above a luke-warm level. He'd like to see that girl gay and laughing. She'd be like a child when she was happy.

He couldn't remember when anyone, man or woman, had so interested him. Not Stephen Curt, the commentator. Many people drew his avid attention. But Stephen Curt, the man. Once more he chuckled inwardly.

"WAIT a minute. I'll call Miss Montgomery and we'll continue," Thorpe was saying, anxious to restore a semblance of order.

But Stephen Curt was gathering up his papers, stuffing them untidily into his brief case, apparently in a great hurry.

"Sorry—haven't time now. Anyway, you've got all the dope.

Once again inside the warm building, Diana had to wait for an elevator, and when one finally disgorged its passengers into the lobby she found herself face to face with Stephen Curt. He picked her out unerringly and placed his hand on her arm. His blue eyes were friendly.

Fix up the contract and then Laird and I'll sign it. Let us know when it's ready. No special hurry, of course."

He took his hat and overcoat, let Thorpe help him into them and was soon out of the private office. But outside, as his blue gaze swept the big room eagerly, he saw only Miss Montgomery, her mouth still open in astonishment at something that must have just happened.

Miss Montgomery had been waiting in the outer office to hand Diana a white envelope.

"Mr. Durbin asked me to give you this," she said, smiling in the manner of a cat that has just swallowed a canary. Miss Montgomery knew quite well that the pretty nest into which she had fallen had been made possible because Diana had not been considered competent in the position.

She felt she could afford to be generous and added, "We do hope you will soon be happy in some new location."

"Thank you. And you may go to the devil with the rest of them!" Diana said clearly, snatching the envelope with trembling fingers.

Miss Montgomery stood speechless by the desk, her usually quick wit having completely failed her, and Diana, glancing back at her, laughed aloud. It was a childish gesture, but one destined to relieve somewhat the tension of her taut nerves.

BUT as she waited for the elevator, Diana's face burned with shame at what she had done and especially because Stephen Curt had witnessed her outburst.

By the time she reached the street her exultant hysteria had passed and she began to feel more and more ashamed of herself. Exploding like that! And before Stephen Curt, too! What must he think of her? Perhaps she had better go back and apologize.

Before she reached the corner the conviction had grown on her that that was the thing to do. It was the thing her parents would have approved—even demanded. But could she do it? Could she go back and stand before Thorpe and Stephen Curt and say, "I'm sorry I was so rude. Please forgive me!"

Could she so humble herself after that sweeping, triumphant exit? The thought left a bitter taste in her mouth, but might such a course not be the better part of prudence? Richard Thorpe might be so pleased to have her know-how before him that he'd let her stay on as his secretary. Or Stephen Curt might suggest a place of employment. It was either find another job or go back to the farm, an admitted failure.

Surprisingly, Diana found herself willing to sacrifice a great deal of her pride in order to prevent the latter possibility. She could see the smirk, however kindly, on Bill Jackson's face. Hear the mother's, "Well, I do hope you're satisfied now!"

Finally childhood training and the desire to try a shrewd attempt to prolong her stay in this, to her, fascinating environment, forced her to turn and rapidly retrace her steps. She smiled wryly as she was thinking that her course certainly lay in the choice between two humiliations. She had decided which would be the greater.

Once again inside the warm building, she had to wait a moment for an elevator and when one finally descended and disgorged its passengers into the lobby, she found herself once more face to face with Stephen Curt. He had evidently finished his business with Thorpe and was going home. She hoped he would not recognize her in the crowd, but to her surprise he picked her out unerringly and placed his hand on her arm. His blue eyes, looking straight into her troubled gray ones, were warm and friendly. And there was no escaping whatever it was he had to say to her.

Talk Around the Capital

Army Purchases Million Dollars Worth of Blood

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Capital talk:

Of all the odd purchases of the United States Army, the one that stirs the imagination most is that made recently for a million dollars worth of human blood. Five contracts were let to chemical laboratories, totaling $1,026,250 for the purchase of gallons of human plasma. The blood bank is stored against that time, if ever, when it might be needed for blood trans-fusions. This doesn't necessarily mean a fighting war reserve of human blood. With 1,500,000 men in the Army now, the amount of blood needed for accidents resulting from training activities of a mechanized army and for "normal" illnesses is tremendous.

Washington got a good spanking the other day for the way it has been entertaining and receiving soldiers on leave. Dr. Frank S. Lloyd, of the Federal Security Agency recreation division, administered the verbal padding, with such observations as, "This is the coldest, snowiest, most upturned nose area in the United States, barring none."

This ties in with a recent personal experience. Falling in with three lads on leave from Fort Eustis, Va., I asked them what about the national capital they disliked most and the answer was immediate and all agreed "We never have anybody to talk to." Explanation brought out that the boys get pretty weary of being treated like persons apart—or like martyrs. According to morale officers, a queer bit of vicious racketeering has developed here which has slowed down the District's program for placing visiting soldiers in private homes. A number of the "families" who called and offered to take lads in turned out to be houses of prostitution. Now every offer has to be investigated before it can be placed on the invitation list. The process has resulted in only comparatively few homes being added each week.

The President has just rid himself of one of the minor headaches of national defense—the appointment of dollar-a-year men. The law specifically gives the President the authority to appoint the dollar-a-year and WOC (without compensation) aides to the government. There being hundreds of them, the task had become considerable and continuous since so many are called in for specific jobs and remain only a short while.

There was one other drawback. The Democrats said the President was getting in too many Republicans; the Republicans that the President was giving too many jobs to party men in the business field.

The President got a ruling from Attorney General Biddle that it was his prerogative to delegate this appointive power and immediately the President washed his hands of the whole business. Hereafter, the dollar-a-year boys will be named by the national defense division heads—Donald Nelson, William Knudsen, Sidney Hillman and Leon Henderson.

However, this won't make any difference in the assignment of treasury investigators and FBI men to give the records and affiliations of all such appointees a thorough fine-tooth combing. It's not generally known, but a number of recommended dollar-a-year men have been turned down because of these investigations.

In the United States more persons die at age 71 than at any other age, except in the first year of life.

AN EXPERT IN AVIATION, RADIO
OR ENGINEERING AND DRAW
GOOD PAY WHILE YOU LEARN!

IF YOU WANT to get ahead fast, to serve your country, to build yourself a good-paying future... here's the opportunity you've been waiting for.

The U. S. Navy may train you to become an expert in any one of nearly 50 skilled fields. Each month, over 5000 new men will be sent to a Navy Service School, where you can learn to be a Diesel engine operator, machinist, aviation mechanic, aerial photographer, radio operator, or whatever specialized work you're best fitted for. This first year's training which you get is worth at least $1500.

The Navy foots the entire bill. You earn while you learn. In fact, it is possible for an enlisted man to earn up to $126 per month—with keep.

You'll have plenty of opportunity for advancement in position and pay—and you'll have fun while you learn! You'll come out of the Navy fully prepared to take on a good job in private industry. And if you want to stay in the Service, you can go right to the top... and retire at the end of 20 years or 30 years with a liberal monthly income.

You can choose now between the regulars or the reserves. Both offer equal opportunities for advancement.
